

Refurbished Korrek Kollar Press

Takes little floor space.

It can be installed right in line with regular workflow operations.

The result is increased production of highest quality. No other press can achieve such a superlative pressing job, not only on the body of the coat but on that most important part of the coat, the collar lapel.

Teamed up with Utility Press, you will have every coat RIGHT ...every Collar a designer's dream of perfection.

The Korrek Kollar is available in foot operated, air operated or air operated with automatic cycles.

Korrek Kollar is designed to conform to the human contour. Thus collars pressed with this machine hug the neck gracefully and remain 'just so'.

For under pressing as well as finished collar pressing Korrek Kollar is simple to operate; little skill is required.

Shrinks rather than stretches so the material HUGS the natural neckline and lies flat...never bunches.
